

Changing Income Tax Rates and Brackets

Tax Rate Comparison Chart

Wealth Planning | Estate and Tax Planning

The current tax rates and brackets established by the 2017 Tax Cuts and Jobs Act are set to sunset at the end of 2025. When passed, the Act temporarily reduced tax rates and widened the tax brackets. If not extended or replaced by new legislation, the tax code will revert to the structure in place prior to 2018, adjusted for inflation.

The chart below shows the current ordinary income tax rates and brackets for both married taxpayers filing jointly (MFJ) and single filers compared to 2017 rates and brackets. While we do not yet know what the inflation-adjusted brackets will look like in 2026, this comparison provides a glimpse at how tax rates may change and may be helpful when considering various tax planning strategies available over the next several years.

*The 35% bracket applies to single taxpayers with taxable income over $416,700 up to $418,400.

Stifel does not provide tax advice. You should consult with your tax advisor regarding your particular situation.